MISSING PRIEST

Afterward, at Hospital, Father Cirringione Tells of Abduction by Strange Men.

ALL HIS VALUABLES GONE.

One of His Captors, He Says, Wanted to Kill Him, but Was Prevented Through Strategy by Other Members of the Gang.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL New York, Nov. 16 .- The Reverend Joeph Cirringione, rector of the Italian Church of the Immaculate Conception of Williamsburg, was found raving on the streets this morning He disappeared Friday night with strange men, who posed as detectives. He recently received letters demanding money and threatening him with death. He had incurred the enmity of several persons by a sharp crusade against vice. The policeman who found the priest took him to a hospital. Under the influence of moothing drugs, Father Cirringione be came calmer and told something of his story. He said he had been robbed by two men, the men who had gone to his home on Friday night, and whom he had accompanied, believing them to be detectives,

"They took me to the ocean," he said, but beyond this the questioners could get little in detail of where he had been.

He said that when but a few steps from the door of his own home the two men grasped him, one grabbing him by the arms and pinioning them behind him, while the other thrust to his nostils a cloth of some kind saturated with a pungent liquid. Then, he says, he lost consciousness, and the next thing he knew was when he found himself in a "dark and dismal celiar," with his wrists bound. The priest said he had been freed but a few minutes before he had been found by the policeman. He said he had been led blindfolded into the street and then the bandages over his eyes were removed and he had been pushed.

Father Cirringlone, when he left his house, had a gold-mounted ebony cane, a valuable gold watch and chain and some money. When found to-day, all were gone. panied, believing them to be detectives, money. When found to-day, all were gone.

Friends and relatives of Father Cirringione believe the story of the priest, but the police are awaiting further developments before taking any action for the discovery of the alleged abductors.

To Civil Justice Roesch, an old friend of the priest, the latter said there were four men in the gang which abducted him. Only one was an Italian. One of the other men was very rough to him and insisted that he be killed. He said that he heard the men say on Saturday that the papers were filled with the story of his abduction and this man again insisted that he killed. The others objected and managed to get this man intoxicated and the priest's life was saved.

John W. Trisler Did Not Know That His Mother Had Been III.

The second funeral from the same residence in three days will be that of John W. Trisler, for forty years a weil-known business man of St. Louis, who died at his home, No. 4219 Washington avenue, yesterday, and whose funeral will be held to-morrow. His mother, Mrs. Christina Trisler, 81 years old, was buried yesterday, without her son knowing that she was even III.

Mr. Trisler, who was 65 years old, was at the head of the Broadway Foundry Company and later was president of the Company and later was president of the Broadway Foundry Company and later was teriday, without her son knowing that she was even ill.

Mr. Trisier, who was 65 years old, was the precident of the Wright Investment Company. In the carly seventies he was at the head of the Broadway Foundry Company and later was president of the St. Louis Varnish Company. He was a member of the Legion of Honor and a Mason.

Besides his wife, there survive him one daughter, Mrs. J. T. Watson; a grandchild, Miss Frankle Start, and four sisters, Mrs. Sarah Scott, who resides at the West Ead Hotel; Mrs. Frank J. Casey of No. 5029 Vernon avenue, Mrs. Emma J. Chapman of No. 5557 Page avenue and Miss Cornella Trisier, who made her home with her brother.

Mr. Trisier had been a sufferer from diabetes for twenty years, and his physicians credited him with being a specialist in that disease, saying that he knew as much about it as they, and that he had kept himself alive for fifteen years through his study of his own allment.

The functai will be held to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, the Reverend Doctor Lee of St. John's Methodist Church officiating. The burial will be in the family lot in Beliefontalne Cemetery.

Resident Commissioner in Stock holm Announces That 100,000 Crowns Has Been Raised for Building.

A cablegram received by Dan C. Nugent yesterday from John Hammar, resident Commissioner of the World's Fair in Stockholm, conveyed the information that he people of Norway and Sweden had raised 100,000 crowns by subscription, to e used in providing a Swedish palace at the Fair next year.

The cablegram was read last night at a meeting at the Planters Hotel, which was attended by Charles Kohlsaat, World's Fair Commissioner to Norway and Sweden, and thirty-five Sdewish

Americans,

"Mr. Hammar deserves great credit for this additional contribution from Sweden," said Mr. Kohlsaat. "It was largely through his efforts and through the histigation of the press of Stockholm and other cities that the people were induced to raise a popular subscription for an additional World's Fair fund."

At the meeting Mr. Kohlsaat received much praise for his successful efforts with the Government of Norway and Sweden. It was the first opportunity that many of the Swedish-Americans had of meetins him.

SERVICES PLANNED FOR THANKSGIVING.

The Several Denominations of St. Louis Will Combine for Appropriate Exercises.

MUSIC BY CHURCH CHOIRS.

Congregations of Remote Districts Will Unite and Meetings Will Be Held at Convenient Locations.

In accordance with the proclamations of the President of the United States and the Governor of Missouri and long-established custom, the religious denominations will observe Thanksgiving by services, either in groups or singly. Almost all the denominations have made plans for some united service, in which the more important churches will take part. In several districts groups of churches of different denominations will join, and the churches that are in the suburbs or removed from other churches will have their own services.

The Methodist Episcopal churches, South, will unite in a service in Centenary Church, Sixteenth and Pine streets. The sermon will be preached by the Reverend Doctor W. D. Bradfield, who has recently taken the pastorate of the Cook Avenue M. E. Church, South. Music will be provided by a choir made up from the different churches of the city.

The Lindell Avenue, Maple Avenue and The Lindell Avenue, Maple Avenue and Union M. E. churches will join in a service in the Maple Avenue Church, at which the sermon will be preached by the Reverend L. H. Dorchester of the Lindell Avenue Church, The choir of Maple Avenue Church will sing and Doctor Luccock of Union will take part in the service.

The Christian churches' service will be at the First Church and the minister will be the Reverend F. N. Calvin, pastor of Compton Heights Church. The Reverend Doctor Brandt of First Church will arrange the programme.

The service of the Baptist churches of the city will take place in the Second Baptist Church. The Reverend L. H. Williams, pastor of Water Tower Church, will preach the sermon. The music will be by the choir of the Second Church.

The Congregational churches contemplate The Congregational churches contemplate a service out of the ordinary. It will take place either in the Pilgrim Church or First Church and will be for the benefit of the churches in debt. No sermon will be delivered, but there will be addresses by at least half a dozen ministers.

Presbyterian churches will have no united denominational service. Lafayette Park Presbyterian Church will unite with the Lafayette Park Baptist Church and Grace and West Presbyterian churches will have their services together. Curby Memorial Presbyterian and St. Luke's Methodist churches will unite. The services of the North and Reformed Presbyterian churches will be held in their respective churches and will be in the evening.

NEWS OF THE CITY CHURCHES.

Minister Speaks Against Conversation and Gossip at Church. In a paper entitled "Sociability and Reverence." read at the Christian minister's meeting yesterday, the Reverend F. N. Calvin spoke against the practice of indulging in gossip and promiscuous conversation before and after the church services on Sunday. He would have every one maintain a reverential slience while in the house of God. The Reverend Frank Tyrreli and the Reverend G. W. Hoffman in discussing the paper upheld Mr. Calvin's views, and told of many instances, where services they conducted were marred by disorderly conduct.

Thirteen additions to the Maple Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, Sunday, were reported vesterday morning at the minis-ters' meeting of the denomination by the Reverend Doctor F. W. Luce.

The Reverend Doctor George Frederick Avres of Lindenwood College. St. Charles, will give a dinner at 6 o'clock on the evening of November 27, to the younger Presbyterian ministers of this city.

The Reverend Doctor J. H. Young will give a lecture, entitled "Why I Am a Methodist" at St. Paul's M. E. Church, South, Friday evening. The dedication of Trinity M. E. Church, South, at Bellefontaine, St. Louis County, will take place Friday morning at 11 o'clock Bishop E. R. Hendrix will officiate at the ceremony.

The St. Vincent Young Men's Sodality is arranging for its annual entertainment and dance, which will take place November 25, at the St. Louis Turner Hall, No. 198 Chouteau avenue. The play "Down East" will be presented.

A mock trial will take place this even-ing in the Goode Avenue M. E. Church, North Market street and Goode avenue. It will be presented by the members of the Hawthorne Society.

The revival meeting at the First M. E. Church, South, closed Sunday. They were conducted by the pastor, the Reverend L. P. Todd, and there were sixty-one additions to the church. The Reverend J. E. McDonald of the
